INTERESTING CARMEL

Interesting things about Carmel and Carmel People.

Interesting Carmel! Settled just a few short years ago, yet a place where famous pictures have been painted, the world's literature has been written and many other worth-while things accomplished.

Your favorite local newspaper, the new Carmel Sun, has been digging into the past. It was recently suggested that modern Carmel was old enough to boast a Pioneer society and those who suggested the idea opined that twenty years' continuous residence in Carmel be the prime requisite for membership.

To this end, with the aid of a prominent old timer, Carmel Sun has been searching old records and other data for evidence of established residence in Carmel prior to and since 1913, with the following list of names as the result.

VISITOR IN CARMEL DIED LAST THURSDAY

F. O. Horton, who had been in Carmel for the past two months visiting his mother, Mrs. Myrtle Elliott, a son, Frank Horton and a sister, Mrs. Perkins passed away Thursday.

Funeral services were held Friday morning from the Freeman mortuary and the remains shipped to Santa Cruz for interment.

The deceased was 47 years of age and was a native of Kansas.

Next Tuesday begins the collection of postoffice box rents for the period April 1 to June 30. Boxes not paid for by 6 p. m. on the last date will be closed and mail placed in general delivery.

Orchestra Tugs at Heart Strings

The third concert of the Carmel Music Society passed into history Saturday night when the Monterey Peninsula Orchestra, under the superb direction of Michel Penha, gave a wonderful performance. The pleasant memory will linger throughout the lives of those who comprised the vast audience.

Abraham Weiss, as soloist, was greeted with enthusiasm, and Ralph Linsley, as pianist, was warmly applauded.

Mr. Penha possesses that rare gift of leadership and exercised it in bringing the numerous instruments into perfect harmony.

Members of the orchestra were: First Violins: Mildred Wright, concert master; Robert Nagler, Arthur Gundersen, John Terry, Hubert Sorenson, Laura Diesssen, Bettie Whitney.

Second Violins: Grace Knowles, Marian Falkenberg, Charles Frank, David Hagemeyer, Edna Lockwood, Ernest Calley, Frances Maas.

Violas: Abraham Weiss, Geraldine O'Connell, Nancy Bragg, Alice Meckenstock.

Cellos: VirginiaPeterson, Ducky Falkenberg, Doris Fee.

Double Bass: Fenton Foster.

Flute: Vera Stalter.

Clarinet: Arnold Chapman.

Trumpets: Paul Taylor, John Wither.

Piano: Ralph Linsley.

Harmonicum: Edward Hopkins.

LA COLLECTA HAS AN INTERESTING PROGRAM

La Collecta club again enjoyed one of their delightfully interesting and instructive programs when they met yesterday at the home of Mrs. O. A. Holm on Dolores.

Mrs. S. N. Lawrence, a guest of the club, read three articles from Reader's Digest, her hearers finding particularly absorbing the story of Martha Berry and her work among the mountain people of the far South.

Mrs. Robert Hart read of "The World We Will Live In'; Miss Walter read an article on "Roosevelt," and another on "St. Patrick," while Miss Elizabeth Morgan read "The Memoirs of St. Patrick."

Mrs. D. E. Nixon gave two readings, "Borrowing a Pie" in Irish dialect and a "Sweedish Interpretation of the Courtship of Miles Standish.

Miss Elizabeth Morgan provided the game for the afternoon, after the current events period.

MRS. ROBERT OVERLY HAS DINNER GUESTS

Honoring Ivan Spaur, of Johnstown, Colo., a guest of his sister, Mrs. M. E. Lindstrom, Mrs. Robert Overly entertained with a beautifully appointed dinner at her home Friday evening at 7:30.

Mrs. Overly's guests were: Ivan Spaur, Mr. and Mrs. Lindstrom, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hilbert, Miss Vera Hunter, Herbert McGuckin and Miss Mary Douglass.

Twenty-five Enjoy Birthday Party

A birthday party isn't unheard of but this was a "birthdays" party, held in Carmel Sunday celebrating the anniversaries of Mrs. Helen Schweninger, Mrs. Clara Leidig, Mrs. Anne Stevenson, Bob Leidig, Fred Leidig and Ben Wetzel. The cake, baked by George Wishart, was a marvel in pink and white, and along with its decorations bore the names, Helen, Clara, Anne, Bob, Fred, and Ben. Those fortunate enough to get a cut of this cake said it was as good as it was beautiful.

It had been planned to go to R. C. Leidig's mountain cabin but on account of the shower, they had to spend the day in Carmel, but that made the turkey dinner and all the other good things taste none the less good.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Schweninger, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Leidig and two sons and their guest, Paul Yonts, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Stevenson, Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Leidig and daughter Jean, Mr. and Mrs. George Wishart and family, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Wetzel and daughter and Robert Pearson.

A new culvert has been placed on First street near Santa Fe to take care of the storm waters.

CARMEL BRANCH RED CROSS AIDS STRICKEN

Steps were taken at a meeting Tuesday of the Carmel Branch of the Red Cross to aid in the call for funds for the relief of the stricken in the earthquake disaster in Southern California.

A booth, it was decided, would be placed between the post office and the Monterey Trust and Savings Bank and one at the Bank of Carmel as well as one at Staniford's Drug store. Contributions will also be received at the office at Monte Verde and Ocean. Knowing the hearts of Carmel people, there is no doubt but that the quota will soon be made up.

Telegram received March 14, 1933.

Southern California has suffered severely from a series of major earthquakes. Scores have been killed and injured, damage to property estimated in excess of forty-five million dollars. Hundreds of homes completely destroyed or damaged. Governor Rolph in proclamation today designated Red Cross official relief and rehabilitation agency. Relief fund five hundred thousand dollars needed immediately. National Headquarters has appropriated fifty thousand dollars. Confident Pacific area chapters will want to meet the amount required. Will your chapter accept quota of five hundred dollars? Give wide publicity and arrange to forward remittances branch offices. Report currently results obtained.

Signed by Mr. A. L. Schafer, manager of Pacific Coast Headquarters of American Red Cross.

Miss Ethel Shea, who has been visiting Miss Gardner on Monte Verde for the past few months, leaves soon for Burlingame where she will visit a short time before returning to her home in New Hampshire.

CARMEL FOLK HAVE FAITH IN FUTURE

The attitude of Carmel folk in the national crisis is indeed gratifying. Both C. L. Berkey of the Bank of Carmel and J. E. Abernethy of the Monterey Savings and Trust Company have expressed themselves as deeply touched by the cooperation of their depositors.

The attitude taken is that expressed by Postmaster W. L. Overstreet in a speech before the Manzanita club last week when he said:

"Though this is an organization in which politics is taboo, you will pardon me if, in the interest of patriotism, I make a plea for the cooperation of all of us with President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

"The president has asked for confidence to the end that normal conditions be restored, and this gathering here tonight of the business and professional men of Carmel is a splendid evidence of loyalty and trust and confidence that the 'new deal' will be forthcoming."

The editor was talking to Carmel real estate folk and found them all cheerful of the outlook. "No one," they said, "tried to raise money by disposing of their real estate at lowered price." Carmel has a real future as a residence section and property holders will think a long time berore letting go of their holdings.

CARMEL VOLLEY BALL TEAM CLEANS UP P. G.

Carmel Volley Ball Team had their revenge on the Pacific Grove team Wednesday night when the latter came here for a return engagement.

The game was played at Sunset school and Carmel won three of the four games.

Since Carmel lost three out of four at Pacific Grove, the next game ought to be a hot one. It will be played in the Grove soon.

Sound Thinking Will Eliminate Chain Store

The only way to combat chain stores is to set the people to thinking. They will not want to see our buildings empty and our real estate values down.

The farmer must know that it will be better or his welfare should 6,000 independent stores bid for his produce than for him to be at the mercy of one trust owning 6,000 stores.

Both realtors and property owners must know that it will be better to have in a town all the store buildings occupied by independent stores, rather than one large building occupied by a chain branch.

The professional man must know that it is better that his clients or patients come from many independent stores paying good wages, rather than from one institution which makes each clerk do two men's work and pays him a non-liveable wage.

Who then is benefitted by the chain stores?

Wall Street, and Eastern Capitalists who would take our money from California, not heeding the cry of our workers, unheeding of the breaking down of our social and financial centers.

Surely, the California people will soon awaken to their own best interests.

Around One More Corner

The corner around which Good Times has been hiding has been rounded and the nation can now see the rascal. He is coming closer and evidence shows that he will soon be here in person bringing normal times and happiness back into American homes.

Along with other banks of the nation, Carmel banks opened Wednesday, and were the people happy? No hysteria, but a general feeling of relief. No one rushed in to withdraw his money and put it under the mattress, but large amounts were handed into the institutions with a great feeling of security.

The stock market, the pulse of the nation, jumped from 2 to 16 points, both stocks and bonds sharing in the enthusiasm. More than 3,000,000 shares of stocks were traded in during the day, the greatest turnover since last September.

Arthur Brisbane says of the stock market situation, "It is encouraging, but don't forget warnings of your own good resolutions about gambling."

"SMILE WITH ME IN '33", SAYS GRIMSHAW

It would be hard to keep from smiling with A. C. Grimshaw, proprietor of the Associated Station at the corner of San Carlos and Sixth. Mr. Grimshaw's company adopted the slogan, "Smile with me in '33" and he now has especially good reason for smiling, since he stands second highest on the peninsula in the race among dealers to sell the greatest number of Firestone tires in a given length of time. And he is steadily climbing and hopes to be at the top when the awards are made.

Mr. Grimshaw has been in his present location for the past two years and daily makes new customers with his ready service and his cheerful manner. He is assisted by his son, Charles, who is also up on his toes when it comes to real service.

JOHN O'SHEA EXHIBITION HELD OVER AT GALLERY

On account of continued interest in John O'Shea's black and white pictures at the Denny-Watrous gallery, the exhibition will be held over until some time in April.

Mr. Shea has sold one of his pictures despite the slump in the picture market due to the depression.

If you have not seen these pictures, make a special trip. It will be worth your while.

Now that Carmel people have cash to spend, let them remember who it was that stood by the people in the recent "cash famine." Was it the chain store?

Florence Austral Here March 25th

Florence Austral, the great dramatic soprano who will sing here in the Sunset School auditorium, March twenty-fifth, in the final series of the concerts presented by the Carmel Music Society, began life as Florence Mary Wilson.

However, when she made her debut in Wagnerian opera at Covent Garden, London, a more imposing name was asked for.

Whether she believed that she might thus bring herself luck or whether she had a spontaneous outburst of affection for her homeland, Miss Wilson followed the example of her already great compatriot, Nellie Melba, and took her name from that of the country of her birth.

While Austral, like Melba, was born in Melbourne, she spent a great deal of her childhood in the "bush" country. Until she made her sensational appearance in a competitive festival at Victoria, she was an unsophisticated girl, more familiar with the sun-lit spaces of the country than the concert halls of the city.

The singer confesses more than an occasional pang of homesickness for the bright skies of Australia. But the warm welcome she has received in this country has endeared its people to her and now that she is becoming used to the "amazing distances," she likes it very well. This is Miss Austral's seventh season in America.

Can You Laugh at Murder?

YOU CAN IF YOU SEE HELEN WARE IN THE NEXT COMMUNITY PLAY!

Dy Dorothy Pinkham

Can one ever laugh at a murder? It's a strange question, but sometimes the consequences of a murder are so amusing that - - - You don't believe it? Well, you should attend a performance of "Ladies of the Jury," to be presented March 30, 31 and April 1, by a cast of the Carmel Community players.

Helen Ware, well-known actress of stage and screen, is cast as Mrs. Livingston Baldwin Crane and is also assisting her husband, Frederick Burt, in directing.

How often do prejudice, emotion and personal vanity enter in to a jury's decisions? Haven't you wondered how those "twelve good men and true" arrive at a verdict which either sends a prisoner to death or releases him into the world once more? Here you will have an opportunity of observing what takes place behind those locked doors.

The role of Mrs. Crane provides Miss Ware with many opportunities, the character being that of a domineering, self-assured woman who blandly ignores all regulations, legal tradition and reason in achieving her end. Needless to say, the methods employed cause a great deal of amusement to the audience.

A capable cast supports the star. This includes Galt Bell as Mr. Dale, attorney for the defense; Gordon Knoles, Prosecutor Van Stye; Chester Shepherd, Judge Fish; Sybil Leonard, Mrs. Gordon; Ranald Cockburn, Dr. Quincy Adams James; Hildreth Masten, Evelyn Snow; Richard Catlett, clerk of the court; Larry Grenier, court officer; Holly Smith, Suzanne; Marian Todd, Miss Pratt; Elizabeth Sampson, Mayme Mixter; Bonnie Cockburn, Mrs. Dace; Virginia Rockwell, Cynthia Tate; Fern Hyde, Mrs. Maguire; Richard Masten, Mr. Pressley; Bert Bruno, Tony; Sam Ethridge, Steve; Charlie Sayres, Mr. McKaig; Ross Cowen, Alonzo Beal; W. B. Williams, Mr. Dazey; Ed Files, Slim.

Tickets will be on sale at Staniford's drug store, $1.50.

DAYS OF RAMONA AT CLUB HOUSE

A bit of Old Spain and the days of Ramona in our own sunny California were exemplified last Monday afternoon at the Woman's club of Carmel.

Mrs. Grady, of Berkeley, the entertainer, delighted the audience with her vivid portrayals of Spanish custom and costumes. Being the grand-daughter of the owner of the ranch around which was laid the story of "Ramona", she is particularly fitted to handle her subject, passing on to her hearers the stories handed down from generation to generation in her family.

She was dressed in a frock, made by the Indians on her grandfather's ranch, of linen brought from Spain. Her assistant, Mrs. Williamson, was also dressed in costume of historic significance.

About seventy-five ladies enjoyed the program and the lovely refreshments of tea and little cakes following. Miss Culbertson and Mrs. Brooks poured.

Mrs. Willis White, the hostess of the afternoon, was dressed in a black lace dress and mantilla which had been in her family for years and members of the committee were gay inSpanish shawls. Mrs. White was assisted by Mrs. Mary Adda Reade, Mrs. John F. Dickinson, Mrs. Everett Smith, Miss Bergdorf and Miss Agnes Williston.

There will be only two more meetings of the club this season and the members will then take a rest to start the next season with renewed energy.

MARIONETTE THEATRE MAKES HIT IN CARMEL

The Carmel marionette theatre under Miss Evelyn Pattison opened last Saturday afternoon at the Scout house and played to an enthusiastic audience.

The programs, while interesting to grown-ups, are especially prepared for children and the Scout board is much pleased with Miss Pattison"s work.

These programs will be given every Saturday afternoon at two o'clock..

E. L. Taylor, who has been visiting in the East, writes that he struck some extremely cold weather in Ohio, and that he will be home tomorrow.

Miss Evelyn Arne, accompanied by Lynn Frisbee, will spend the week-end with her parents at Monte Verde and Eighth. Miss Arne is employed at Gantner-Mattern's in San Francisco.

Major Hairs has written Mrs. Hairs at Merle's Treasure Shop, that he will land in England today enroute for Carmel. He has been in Australia for some months. Since he will visit in England before sailing, it is not known just when he will arrive.

ELEVEN FIREMEN TO RECEIVE UNIFORMS

The proper construction of fire proof chimneys, and the dangers of home dry cleaning were two of the questions stressed at the recent examination of the Carmel firemen held at Sunset school.

Fire Chief Leidig stated to a Carmel Sun reporter that there are very few of the chimneys in Carmel t at are properly constructed and that a large number of fire alarms in 1932 came from this source. Mr. Leidig also stated that the chief danger in using the new solvents, advertised as safe, for home cleaning lay in the fact that after the fluid had been once used evaporation left gasoline only, with a high explosive quality.

The dangers of home cleaning, it was brought out in the examination, are three-fold: first, loss of life; second, permanent injury or disfigurement and third, loss of property.

Those who passed the grade and will receive the new uniforms are: B. W. Adams, Fred Mylar, William Askew, Charles Guth, Paul Mercurio, Paul Funchess, Keith Evans, Manuel Pereira, James Williams, and Ed Kaiser. These men will now be a part of the organization under Manuel Pereira, chief of the bureau of fire prevention. They will wear their new uniforms at theatres, at inspection and all places where a uniform will inspire the confidence of the public.

Fire Chief Leidig has also purchased a uniform like the new ones ordered for the men.

Mr. Leidig and Mr. Pereira explained the difference between their offices as being the latters part, an effort to prevent fires, and on the former's an effort to extinguish fires.

LENTEN SEWING BY EPISCOPALIAN GUILD

The regular Lenten sewing is being done by the Episcopalian guild which met Tuesday and worked on clothing for three girls, 12, 14 and 15 years old in Alaska. They are making warm night gowns and other suitable clothing for that part of the world.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY TO MEET WEDNESDAY

The Carmel Missionary Society will hold its March meeting Wednesday, the 22nd. at two-thirty p. m. in All Saints Guild Hall.

Mrs. E. L. Taylor and Mrs. Willis White will speak on the subject; "Results of the Missionary Activities". A Missionary pie will be served by Miss Margaret White.

IRISH CABARET POSTPONED UNTIL LATER

Carmel folk will be disappointed to learn that the Irish Cabaret scheduled for tomorrow night has been postponed, but will be glad to learn that it will be held at a later date.

It would be a good idea to start now and throw a few cents back under the rug each day so you will have enough to take in all the concessions when they give this evening of fun and frolic later.

MRS. BURKE ENTERTAINS AT DUTCH WHIST PARTY

HOLIDAY PROVED WORTH OF INDEPENDENT STORES

The true value of the Independently owned stores was brought out while the banks were closed in a very decided way. Those who had established a credit at the home owned stores met with no embarrasment at the lack of cash, while those who had traded at the chain stores and found themselves short of cash were placed in a humiliating position of having to ask favors from those who owed them no favors.

Chain Stores Partly At Fault For Economic Situation

The country is awakening as a whole to the evils of the chain stores. The following are exerpts from the King City Rustler:

Last week's issue of National Investment Transcript, a financial magazine published at Camden, N. J., devoted a column of its front page to failures and near failures of chain industries in the United States.

In the news of the day it was just chronicling the fact that a few more threads had snapped in our weakened financial fabric—but behind the story of these failures there probably lies a three-fold tragedy that has an important bearing on the future financial outlook. In each part of this tragedy Mr. Average American was the victim.

Economists have pointed out that many chain stores were simply stock-selling schemes and must collapse when saturation point was reached in stock manipulation. They have warned investors and patrons that suicidal prices on merchandise offered for sale by some of these concerns could accomplish but one aim—that of showing an immense volume of business—bait to trap the unwary investor. That purpose accomplished, many of the chain stores have now reached the saturation point on stock sales, and unable to operate at close margin on merchandise, the crash has come.

The pity of it all is the fact that thousands of home merchants, operating legitimate businesses, have been forced to the wall as they tried to compete against these unfair methods. While the home merchant has been forced to retire, the public has donated generously to the coffers of chain outfits, helping them to exist as going business houses, while officers of these companies manipulated the stock and cleaned up while going was good. Consequently stockholders are owners of worthless paper stock, while the big boys slipped out with the gravy.

"But home town merchants and unwary investors are not the only sufferers in the three-way tragedy. Chain store patrons—farmers, laborers, professional men, educators and all—who tempted by the siren song of "thrift" and economy" threw their support to the "big business" enterprises, find themselves standing bewildered in the maelstrom of cut throat prices, waiting for a straw at which to grasp, as the flood closes in about them.

"The west, sensing disaster, is organizing against such a cataclysm. Whether or not the people will respond in time to avert disaster, is a question. Business men and farm organization all over the state of California are rallying to the cause of local trade, and it looks as if the home town merchant might be saved the ignominy of defeat.

"When you read of these disasters, don't dismiss them with a shrug as not affecting you, but look for the tragic story behind them.

"Let's act now before it is too late. You can't go wrong in standing by the old friends who have made the fight with you."

SPORTS NEWS of the WEEK

Abalone League

For the first time in the history of the Abalone League, games were called off on account of rain. The first games were completed both at the Point and Carmel Woods. The game at the Point, between the Peninsula Club and Del Monte was called at the end of the second inning and the result at that time was very much in doubt and the game in Carmel Woods showed the Pilots in the lead by a score of 6 to 0 at the end of the 4th, and it looked like the Gianta were going to suffer their first defeat of the season, so think nothing of it. Both games will have to be played later on in the season. The Tiger-Shamrock game was a bang-up affair for five innings, both pitchers sailing along on smooth seas with the score tied one up, with two out in the last half of this inning--with two on the bases.

Charlie Van Riper hit a pop fly and it looked like the Shamrock pitcher would gather it in for the third out but lo and behold he dropped the ball and two more runs were chalked for the Tigers, and when they came to bat in the last half of the next inning six more runs were added. The Shamrocks scored one run after two were out—making the final score, Tigers 9 Shamrocks 2.

This was the first game the Tigers have won this season and much credit should be given to Fred Ammerman for his pitching and timely hitting, and was largely responsible for the Tigers winning. For the Shamrocks Dr. Matzke pitched a good game. He was holding his own until the fatal fifth, but that's what happens in baseball.

Carmel Woods

The Manzanita Club surprised the Old Monterey team by beating them in a closely contested game, final score 11 to 10. The Manzanita Club has been knocking at the door for some time and found themselves yesterday and knocked over a darn good ball club in Old Monterey. It was the Manzanita Club's first victory and they will be hard to stop from now on. They started off with a four run lead right off the bat, but the game sea-sawed back and forth,—both teams taking the lead at different times but the Manzanita Club put the crusher on the Old Monterey's hopes in the fourth inning, bringing in five runs. Old Monterey made a gallant stand to overcome Manzanita Club's lead but fell one run shy in the final stanza. Gordy Campbell, former Stanford football star lead the attack for the Manzanita Club and played a great game in the field and was greatly responsible for his teams victory. The Club section teams are all bunched and seems a very evenly balanced league. It will be very interesting to watch these teams in the future, to see who will finally become the winner. May the best team win!

MUCH INTEREST SHOWN IN COMING TOURNEY

Much interest is being shown in the coming tournament when teams in Shuffle Game and Ping Pong will compete for prizes at the Manzanita club next Wednesday night, March 22.

Each member will be allowed to take one guest on the night of the contest and there will no doubt be a lot of cheering done for favorites.

The Juior members are taking exceptional interest and letting no grass grow under their feet, so the senior members are going to have to hustle some to bring home the coin.

SKEET TO BE INTRODUCED AT INDIAN POW-WOW

Skeet will be introduced for the first time at Del Monte when the California Indians hold their annual sports pow-wow of trapshooting and golf here on April 20 to 23. The increasingly popular sport will account for a large increase of shooters this year, according to Bill Magee, San Francisco, high-chief of the Indians. Magee looks for a record turnout of sportsmen. An elaborate sports program has been arranged and Indians from all sections of the coast will be in attendance.

BADMINTON TOURNAMENT IN MONTEREY APRIL 15-16

Several hundred entrants are expected in the first annual tournament of the California State Badminton association, to be held in Monterey April 15 and 16, according to newly elected president Paul Whitman, of Carmel. Probably no other sport is enjoying such growth in favor as the tricky net game.

Badminton fans from all sections of the state attended the initial meeting of the association at the Old Monterey Polo Club when by-laws and a constitution were adopted and officers elected. Other officers besides Whitman elected were George McCook, Pasadena, first vice-president; Emile de Survillo, San Francisco, second vice-president; Leslie Nichols, Palo Alto, secretary-treasurer and Roland Roberts, Del Monte tennis professional, chairman of the tournament committee.

JUNIOR ASSOCIATES HAD SPLENDID TIME

Everyone reports a fine time at the dance given by the junior associates of the Manzanita club last Friday night. There were quite a number present from Salinas and from other nearer points, the total number in attendance being about one hundred.

Maurice Stoney's High Hatters delighted the crowd with their peppy music which combined with the fine floor and the general air of sociability in making for a good time.

The Juniors will hold another in two weeks which will in all probability be even better attended since their fame is bound to go abroad.

Remarkable Rise of Gloria Stuart

By J. A. Kunstman

In motion pictures only one year, and already recognized as one of the screens leading actresses with potential stardom clearly visible, Gloria Stuart, golden haired beauty who is seen this week at the Carmel theatre in Universal's wartime drama, "PRIVATE JONES" has more than lived up to the promise she evidenced when taken from the ranks of amateur stage artists.

The cameo-like beauty of this unusual girl which attracted the attention of two major studios and caused one of the most exciting contests to secure her contract, has been reproduced with fidelity by the cameras, and professional makeup artists, gowning and other arts of the cinema have enhanced the natural beauty of Miss Stuart until she now occupies a distinctive position among the really beautiful women in Hollywood.

Experienced in acting through years spent in training in the excellent schools of Carmel and Pasadena, California and possessed of a true artist's temperament and talent, Gloria Stuart assumed featured leads from the start in her cinema career, escaping the depressing "extra" period which so often dampens the spirit of screen novitiates. Her first film work was in "The Old Dark House". This was followed by "Air Mail", "The All American," "Laughter in Hell," "Sweepings," and now "Private Jones".

In "Private Jones" as the war worker in the cantonments who seems a literal angel to the embittered doughboy, portrayed by Lee Tracy in this human screen war document, Gloria Stuart is said to accomplish the most genuinely artistic portrayal of her brilliant career, and to reach the climax of her years progression on the screen.

She is now enacting an entirely different type of role at Universal City, that of the unfaithful wife in "The Kiss Before the Mirror" with Paul Lukes, Frank Morgan and Nancy Carroll. This will be ready for release in March, and it will mark Miss Stuart's eighth featured role as she completes her first year in pictures, a remarkable achievement.

"Private Jones" opens at Carmel theatre March 21 and 22 Tuesday and Wednesday only.

Mrs. J. B. McGrury, who was called to Santa Cruz mountains last week by word that her daughter, Ellen Pearl, had broken her arm, writes that she probably will be at home this week and will bring her little girl with her. Ellen Pearl was playing at school when she fell, breaking the bone in her right arm.

Toward Better Banking

The following is taken from the San Francisco News, March 1st, 1933.)

When Charles E. Mitchell and Hugh Baker resigned as chairman of the National City Bank and president of the National City Co., respectively, they were paying the penalty for mixing banking business with a stock promotion affiliate.

They were not unique in this. The practice is widespread in American banking. It is a product of the boom era and stands condemned with the boom spirit which produced it.

That these two New York bankers considered it necessary to resign as the result of this practice in order to ease the effect of public criticism upon the bank inspires hope that the practice itself is on the way out.

The Senate committee's counsel Ferdinand Pecora, by a few telling instances showed the country how banks have been able to present a good face to the public at all times by handing bad debts and other embarassing responsibilities over to the affiliates.

And the public, in the case of Peruvian bonds which the National City company floated, knowing Peruvian affairs to be in a precarious position, shouldered huge losses.

It is now up to the national congress and state legislatures to take prompt steps to expedite the end which the Senate revelations demand.

Banking in America henceforth must be banking and not affiliated with stock promotion.

MAYOR CATLIN MAKING CARVED GATE POSTS

One who drops in at the Forge in the Forest these days may see Mayor John R. Catlin working on a pair of gate posts, which will delight the senses.

Mr. Catlin had a huge redwood tree split and is using the quarters for the posts. On one, he carved at the top a sheathed sword, immediately under it, a head of one of the early conquerors, below that the head of the American Indian and below that the pioneer. The other post is decorated with the torch, the priest, the Spanish soldier and the Mexican soldier.

INTERESTING PROGRAM AT DENNY-WATROUS

Here is something it will pay you to keep in mind, since there has not been time to do any extensive advertising and your attention may not be called to the date again.

Next Saturday night Dr. Frederic Paxson, distinguished historian of the University of California faculty, will speak at the Denny-Watrous gallery on "Our President and the New Congress."

He will discuss what is happening NOW in Washington and with everyone so interested in watching the country pull out of the depression, his subject is timely and well worth-while.

After the talk there will be an open forum and the audience will be privileged to ask questions.

Dr. Paxson recently won the Pulitzer prize for the best book on American history with his "Last American Frontier." He has been connected with all the large eastern universities and has done research work at Oxford and is in close touch with Washington.

MR. ROY GALE HAS PARTY FOR STUDENTS

The last of a series of four parties for his students was giver last Thursday night by Mr. Roy E. Gale, at his apartment on El Camino Real. Mr. Gale is teacher of the eighth grade at Sunset school, and planned the series as being more enjoyable than a large get-to-gether affair, since he entertained but one-fourth of the number each time.

There were about twelve present. Howard Stackpole was the chief entertainer of the evening, he being well on the way toward giving Thurston, the magician, some keen competition. He did many tricks, made colors change as his audience looked on mystified, and made articles vanish into thin air.

Some day his fellow students may say, "I knew him when—".

RED CROSS PINS ARE AWARDED TO WORKERS

As a token of appreciation of her labor as a volunteer administration worker, Mrs. E. L. Taylor was presented a pin by the local Red Cross Monday afternoon, and Miss Alice Gillette was presented one in appreciation of her work in the home service department. Thirteen were present at the meeting..

The subject of raising money for the relief of the earthquake sufferers in the southern part of the state was discussed, as stated elsewhere in ihts issue.

It is rather comforting to know that the Carmel branch is well organized to care for any local disaster that might, but which it is hoped will not, happen to Carmel. Doctors and nurses have their instructions and homes are listed to care for injured.

Since no one knows just what disaster might befall, all these things are problematical, but the fact that the subject has been thought out, would be a help in most any circumstances.

Mrs. Robert Stanton is the able president of the local chapter this year and Miss Walton is secretary. Every member of the board devotes much time and thought to welfare work and all are deserving of a great deal of credit.
